

The Sun

Gothminister

Can you feel the presence of the flame that burns within?
Can you resist a world of sin?
Can you see the fire in my eyes and it's glowing through my skin?
I give all I have to watch you silently give in

Can you
Can you

We are the best out here when night falls
We are the first to take control
And in all my life, I never stood so tall
We are the best out here when night falls
We are the first to take control
With you in my life, I finally have it all

Can you
Can you

Can you sacrifice yourself and confide in no one else?
Can you resist to decide our death?
Can you see the fire in my eyes and it's glowing through my skin?
I give all I have to watch you silently give in

We are the best out here when night falls
We are the first to take control
And in all my life, I never stood so tall
We are the best out here when night falls
We are the first to take control
With you in my life, I finally have it all

When our time has come we hide away from dawn
Can you
Can you

We are the best out here when night falls
We are the first to take control
With you in my life, I finally have it all
