

87 Seconds

Grabbitz

Wait, I got 87 seconds 'til I drown
And the waters froze with no one else around
I got lost again and fell right through the ground
But now I'm found, but now I'm found Could you get a little closer?
I can't reach
But be careful not to trade places with me
A tired king was looking for his crown
But now I'm found, but now I'm found

You can get lost when you're just trying to find something, is it worth all the cost when you come back and ain't nothing?
And whether it's better money or someone's fake loving, it gets better than ever, though, wherever you end up in We could be real, or we could be a simulation inside of a dream of alien civilizations Whenever you scream, you're reminding them to be patient, yeah, you might just find it now, I'm proud that you kept waiting And now that you finally made it, get going, the time is wastin' g, I'm buried up to my chest and I can't even feel my waist Get me out of here I need saving, I'm so close to dunking my head underneath the water
I thought I was but I wasn't so, wait

I got 87 seconds 'til I drown
And the waters froze with no one else around
I got lost again and fell right through the ground
But now I'm found

You can get killed when you're just tryna keep living and the hold that you fill is done filling, find where the lid is You're desperate to find where you went wrong, you didn't, 'cause it led you to me, just a minute before I bit it So take me to church if you want me to start believing, but I'll never be anything until I visibly see it Cause fate is just a myth, 'cause someone is gonna cause it and it's gone before you know it so find a way you can pause it, and wait

I got 87 seconds 'til I drown
And the waters froze with no one else around
I got lost again and fell right through the ground
But now I'm found, but now I'm found Could you get a little closer? I can't reach
But be careful not to trade places with me
A tired king was looking for his crown
But now I'm found, but now I'm found