

Hero Pt. II

Grabbitz

Feel disconnected and it's hard to accept it
But I still see light
All I know is the wreckage I've been tryna protect
For nearly all of my life
And I can't go back, rearrange my past
I can't change what led me here
You cut through with a scream, I snap out of my dream
I'm immortal whenever you're near

I could run away now
I could try to hide and pretend
But this is not a story
Where the hero dies at the end
Where the hero dies at the end

Where the hero dies at the end

If I could only spin the world backwards
I would know the things that came after
That way, I could save the day faster, faster, faster
If I could only make the world slow down
Weaponize the lives that I know now
I could fan the flame that won't blow out

I could run away now
I could try to hide and pretend
But this is not a story
Where the hero dies at the end
Where the hero dies

I should just walk away
But I've got my price to pay
They made a big mistake

I could run away now
I could try to hide and pretend
This is not a story
Where the hero dies at the end

Where the hero dies
Hero dies
Where the hero dies