This Is Not Enough (1987)

Grabbitz

Vultures, circling their prey
People aren't as obvious, but do it the same way
Explosives, strapped to every day
I don't cut the wire, I just let 'em detonate
I've been burnt too many times, I'm putting up my walls
Didn't know they'd fall so fast, if you hit them with cannonballs
You can't see the scar, but there's a blemish on my soul
I'm just patching up the holes again

This is not enough, this is not enough
This is not enough to get you out of my head
This is not enough, this is not enough
This is not enough to get you out of my head

Closer to healing all my pain
Never gonna finish if the thought of you remains
Over, make them go away
Wish I could accelerate the memories to fade
And I would really love if you hit me in the head
I could forget ever single thing that you ever said
And I would let everything else that wouldn't be so bad
Let the memories end, like Men In Black

This is not enough, this is not enough
This is not enough to get you out of my head
This is not enough, this is not enough
This is not enough to get you out of my head
Get you out of my head

Some chaotic kinda vibe, my inner symphony
Add them all together and you'd get a masterpiece
Golden painted accolades, whatever they may be
I would trade it all for peace, trade it all for peace

This is not enough, this is not enough
This is not enough to get you out of my head
This is not enough, this is not enough
This is not enough to get you out of my head
This is not enough, this is not enough
This is not enough to get you out of my head
This is not enough, this is not enough
This is not enough to get you out of my head

This is not enough, this is not enough
This is not enough to get you out of my head
This is not enough, this is not enough
This is not enough to get you out of my head
Get you out of my head