

TORN OPEN

Grabbitz

Now my face has turned to blue
You took my whole heart and ripped it into two
And the fault's mine, I'll take it
But you didn't patch me up when I was breaking
I go where you go
Lord only knows I must love being broken
I'm half and you're whole
Over and over you're tearing me open again
You're tearing me open again
Over and over you're tearing me open again

Over and over you're tearing me open again
Over and over you're tearing me open again

And it takes time to heal the wounds
But I've come so far the scars can be my proof
And just when life has given me my moment
I give it back to you to get torn open
To get torn open
To get torn open

Over and over you're tearing me open again
You're tearing me open again
Over and over you're tearing me open again

To get torn open
To get torn open
To get torn open
To get torn open...