

Where The End Begins

Grabbitz

Oh

I know a place so magical
That no one had a God or money
And all of the love was free
I swear
It's where our eyes all have to go
A blank space at the end of a page we read
And that's when your legs get weak

It's where you fall, and then
You start it all again
And when you're done with all the others
I'll meet you inside the wonder of where the end begins

You can stay for a little while
No one ever wanted to dive right in
When you know that the writing is there
And it'll say what you make it say
Will you make the sun bright when it rains one day?
I love when it looks that way in the air

You fall, and then
You risk it all again
And when you're done with all the others
I'll find you and give you comfort
Where the end begins

Where the end begins

You fall, and then
You start it all again
And when you're done with all the others
I'll find you and give you comfort
Where the end begins
Where the end begins
