

Lying here but I'm somewhere else
Thinking about all the things that I missed
Just holding onto how good it felt
When I only wanted was to give you my best
You were always there for me
When I gave you every reason to leave
Now there's all these "inbetweens"
You aren't mine, to me and my dreams
All these words and nothing to say

This time the silence has never been louder
Never been louder
Blacked out the sirens, the fire was ours
The fire was ours
When you drink too much and the lines get blurred
And you hurt who you love and you know it's done
This time the silence has never been louder
Never been louder

I wish that I was innocent
Loving someone and be happy with it
It's getting harder to admit
But you hurt me first so I did what I did
All these words and nothing to say

This time the silence has never been louder
Never been louder
Blacked out the sirens, the fire was ours
The fire was ours
When you drink too much and the lines get blurred
And you hurt who you love and you know it's done
This time the silence has never been louder
Never been louder

Louder
Louder
Louder
Louder
Louder
Louder

This time the silence has never been louder
Never been louder
Blacked out the sirens, the fire was ours
The fire was ours
When you drink too much and the lines get blurred
And you hurt who you love and you know it's done
This time the silence has never been louder
Never been louder

Louder
Louder
Louder
Louder
Louder
Louder