Grace Potter

Love, where did we go?
Did we lose ourselves trying to get somewhere else?
Now, at the end of the road
Used to you and me, now we're just 'used to be'

So many memories, some bitter, some are sweet
So what you gonna take, and what you gonna leave?

I'm begging you please, baby, please
Baby, please
If you think about me, baby, please
Baby, please
Make it a sweet memory

Blindly digging for gold
No matter what road we take, we make the same mistakes
Now that the curtain's closed
Oh, believe when I say that I don't regret one single day

So many memories, some bitter, some are sweet
Tell me, what you gonna take, and what you gonna leave?

I'm begging you please, baby, please
Baby, please
If you think about me, won't you, please
Baby, please
Make it a sweet memory?

Why are we holding on to everything we've done wrong?
'Cause I can't sleep, and I can't breathe
It's hurting you, it's hurting me
And baby, baby

Baby, please, baby, please
Baby, please, baby, please
If you think about me, won't you, won't you please
I'm begging you please, please
Make it a sweet memory
Make it a sweet memory
