

Killing Me

Graham Colton Band

The cars are passing down below and all that's left of you is a ll your clothes you left your key the T.V's on our picture's face down by the a larm clock radio the only thing you ever wanted was for me to be here, to stay n ow you've gone away I wish I could pick up the phone and tell you how I'm feel ing and tell you how I've changed I'd tell you everything i really don't know if it make it all better but I let myself go and put it in a letter to you I know I've been stupid and don't have a reason but I'm tryin not to ruin the one thing I believe in you It's killing m e, killing you Remember how you drove me mad you'd leave your rings and jewelry by the bath waking up the bed sheets gon e spend half the night tryin to steal it back the only thing you ever wanted was for me to be here, to stay now you've gone away and tell you how I've changed I'd tell you everything i really don't know if it make it all better but I let myself go and put it in a letter to you i know I've been stupid and don't have a reason but I'm tryin not to ruin the one thing I believe in you It's killing me, killing you you're all that I want, (you plead ed) you're all that i need (I need it) now that you're gone I see i
