

Suitcase

Graham Colton

You're packing up your suitcase
No place you can go
Saying all your goodbyes
No one wants to know

And I guess you figured out
How to do it all by yourself
And I know you wonder how
Everything's so wrong

But there goes your suitcase
There goes the years and all
There goes your suitcase
Following you somewhere I won't go

Leaving all your old friends
A forwarding address
Looking up at blue sky
To put on your best dress

And I guess you figured out
How to do it all by yourself
And I know you wonder how
Everything's so wrong

But there goes your suitcase
There goes the years and all
There goes your suitcase
Following you somewhere I won't go
I won't go

You're packing up your suitcase
But no place you can go

But there goes your suitcase
There goes the years and all
There goes your suitcase
Following you somewhere
There goes your suitcase
There goes the years and all
There goes your suitcase
Following you somewhere I won't go
Yeah, I won't go
