

Silhouettes

GRAHAM

I've seen brothers who wasted a summer to be with a lover
They only regret
I've seen parents who quit on each other and never recover
Who got nothing left
I've seen mothers and daughters that fought with each other
And never could seem to forget
I've seen people who feeling depressed, I'm feeling the stress

So I'm hiding from the silhouettes
I'm wishing that I could forget
Forget the little things you said
'Cause people lie behind the Internet (Behind the Internet, hey)

Why you lying to me? Ay
Times we didn't agree, ay
Back when I thought we could be, ay
Better than people before us
And we said loving would never be cheap, ay
Memories I don't wanna keep, ay
Memories I don't wanna
She got too many strings and too many faces
Too many things and I'm holding on
Crib is a mansion covered in damage
You getting mad and then blowin' it off
You don't wanna talk about nothing else
Unless it hit your bank at the end of the month
Said I'm rude, but I'm just being blunt, oh-oh

I've seen brothers who wasted a summer to be with a lover
They only regret
I've seen parents who quit on each other and never recover
I've seen mothers and daughters that fought with each other
And never could seem to forget
I've seen people who feeling depressed, I'm feeling the stress

So I'm hiding from the silhouettes
I'm wishing that I could forget
Forget the little things you said
'Cause people lie behind the Internet
And if we ever reconnect
Then maybe it could be addressed
'Cause when I'm feeling at my best
I feel like there is something left
Like there's something left, hey
