

In the city of Rlyeh
Lies Cthulhu and awaits his prey
Another poor soul will surely make its way

The mist grew thick shivers on my skin
I tried to run but the air grew thin
Great Cthulhu reached out for me

Hellish fear is devouring my heart
As our ship's slowly falling apart

Cthulhu is rising
Like thousand serpents from the sea
Cthulhu is reaching out for me

A great black stone emerges from sea
More dead than alive I meet my destiny
Cthulhu's tomb lies in front of me

His lust for blood burns in my eyes
An image of man and monster in disguise
From now on evil shall rule my life

Hellish fear is devouring my heart
As our ship's slowly falling apart

Cthulhu is rising
Like thousand serpents from the sea
Cthulhu is reaching out for me