

Drop Dead

grandson

Ayy

Sometimes, the bad guy wins and
Sometimes, the good guy dies
When the screen goes black, I'll be with you in the back
On the bright side, on the bright side
Sometimes, the good things don't last
Time flies and life goes past
When your world is a mess, I'll be with you for the rest
On the bright side, on the bright side, so

Take your money, put it all on red

I'm a pothead, I'm a sinner
Got no hope, not a sliver
Rather drop dead than be a quitter
I'd rather drop dead, I'd rather drop dead
I'm a pothead, I'm a sinner
Shit, life ain't fair, go figure
Rather drop dead than be a quitter
I'd rather drop dead, I'd rather drop dead

Sometimes

You wake up in the back of a car
No idea where you are Numb inside
With nothin' but a promise to your mom
That you'll keep goin' onward
Fuck it, you can fold or you can double down
Me, I'm all in, hit me for a hundred thousand
I've come too far to get to runnin' out
No, they won't take me alive, I'd rather be found dead, so

Take your money, put it all on red

I'm a pothead, I'm a sinner
Got no hope, not a sliver
Rather drop dead than be a quitter
I'd rather drop dead, I'd rather drop dead
I'm a pothead, I'm a sinner
Shit, life ain't fair, go figure
Rather drop dead than be a quitter
I'd rather drop dead, I'd rather drop dead

Don't let go, don't give up that easy
No
Don't let go, don't give up that easy
It's turning around
Oh, oh-oh

I'm a pothead, I'm a sinner
Got no hope, not a sliver
Rather drop dead than be a quitter
I'd rather drop dead, I'd rather drop dead
I'm a pothead, I'm a sinner
Shit, life ain't fair, go figure
Rather drop dead than be a quitter

I'd rather drop dead, I'd rather drop dead
