

Something To Hide

grandson

Mother was the life of the party
Bottle of white wine for dinner
Father had a little box with a razor blade
To cut up a painkiller
Sister had an eating disorder
All of her clothes didn't fit her anymore
And I made a best friend
Out of the skeleton in the closet

I figured
"Oh, hey, maybe just ignore it it'll go away
Keep it in the family for today"
Everybody knows
Everybody knows somebody with something to hide
Everybody knows somebody with something to hide

Sister headed out on a Friday
Blacking out, she wouldn't remember
Grandma wouldn't hurt a fly
But back in her day, oh she had a bad temper
I was getting high in the bathroom
Dark thoughts, I was flirting with surrender evermore
And I made a best friend out of the elephant that's in the room

'Cause I figured
"Oh, hey, maybe just ignore it it'll go away
Keep it in the family for today"
Everybody knows
Everybody knows somebody with something to hide
Everybody knows somebody with something to hide
