

Things Change

grandson

Four in the morning's a funny time for a phone call
I guess that I've been drinkin' and been thinkin' bout you
Where we went wrong
We never really moved on Cause all these other women never really felt like you

I'm poppin' a prescription as I'm sippin' champagne
These painkillers never really did a damn thing
If I didn't have you
If I didn't have you

If I might crash and I self-destruct
Don't ever forget how I just erupted
In the palm of your hand
In the palm of your hand
And if my eyes close and I don't wake up
Don't ever forget where this life takes us
It's all part of a plan
It's all part of a plan

Should've guessed that things changed
Things change
I guess that things change
Things change

Nobody said that fallin' for you is easy
Cause first you love me and you leave me and you never come back
I've been stuck in a crowd
That plays the music too loud
Shit all this rock n' roll never gets me high like you

I'm poppin' a prescription as I'm sipping' champagne
These painkillers never really did a damn thing
If I didn't have you
If I didn't have you

If I might crash and I self-destruct
Don't ever forget how I just erupted
In the palm of your hand
It's in the palm of your hand
And if my eyes close and I don't wake up
Don't ever forget where this life takes us
It's all part of a plan
It's all part of a plan

Should've guessed that things changed
Things change
I guess that things change
Things change

Life is all about the details or the females
Ain't gettin' this on
This train is gettin' derailed
I ain't sweatin' it I got you
I got you
Back in the day

Used to show ya how to parachute
And take ya off the shelf
Then I noticed that you learned how to do that shit yourself
That's when I lost you
And tell me what that cost you

Shit I guess that things changed
Things changed
I guess that things change
Things change
Shit I guess that things change

Used to show ya how to parachute
And take ya off the shelf
Then I noticed that you learned how to do that shit yourself
That's when I lost you