

Element #10

Granger Smith

She walked in where the bad girls go
Hiding skin in good girl clothes
She might drink, but real slow she's saying
But it's Saturday night and the music's loud
The first drink goes right down
She loosens up, she don't know how she's changing

It happens here every weekend
She's goes from the shallow to the deep end

She can't explain, she goes insane now and then
Soaking up element #10
She starts to buzz like it does
When she's breathing in
Element #10

A couple of songs, her hair falls down
One by one she's letting buttons out
God it's a beautiful chemical reaction
She's at the bar, she's swinging those hips
Kissing every drink with her lips
And I'm so caught up in this attraction

Outside this would've not happened
Not with a good girl like that but

She can't explain, she goes insane now and then
Soaking up element #10
She starts to buzz like it does
When she's breathing in
Element #10

She asked me to come over tonight
I said only if there's neon lights

She can't explain, she goes insane now and then
Soaking up element #10
She starts to buzz like it does
When she's breathing in
Element #10

We can't explain, we go insane now and then
We're soaking up element #10
We start to buzz like it does
When we're breathing in
Element #10

She starts to buzz like it does
When she's breathing in
Element #10
