

'Til The Wheels Fall Off

Granger Smith

I watched the sun come up in Dallas
And go down in Santa Fe
Looking out at the painted sky
I can almost see her face
I can hear her voice calling me
Like a whisper in the wind
And if she takes me back
I'm never gonna leave again
I must be crazy
To think that I
Could live without my baby
She's all I'll ever need
It's a long hard road to travel
To get back the love I lost
But I'll drive this truck till the wheels fall off

I took that job in Texas
I knew the distance would do me good
I thought I'd forget about her
But my heart never could
And now with 13 cups of coffee
And 7 tanks of gas
I'm driving, praying she'll give me
One more chance

I must be crazy
To think that I
Could live without my baby
She's all I'll ever need
It's a long hard road to travel
To get back the love I lost
But I'll drive this truck till the wheels fall off

I must be crazy
To think that I
Could live without my baby
She's all I'll ever need
It's a long hard road to travel
To get back the love I lost
But I'll drive this truck till the wheels fall off
Drive this truck till the wheels fall off
Until the wheels fall off
