

Too Much Is Not Enough

Graveyard

Baby your mind's already made up
You just don't know it yet
Or maybe you're just letting me down easy
I know you tried, tried to keep us together
But in the end there was nothing left to keep

I said, I said that I love you and I always will Now that would have been true if only time stood still

It was too little too late and now too much is not enough
I know we got it wrong I did too little too late
Someday you'll see the shades of grey
So baby please don't let your love turn to hate

Now summer's here but my baby ain't
I never got the chance to say don't go
Because you were already long gone by then
Uncertainty had me in a chokehold
And all I could think to say was so far from right
It made the wrong words seem like poetry

Honey I hope you realize,
Being persuasive doesn't always make you right
I know we got it wrong, I did too little too late
Someday you'll see the shades of grey
So baby please don't let your love turn to hate