

Given up to me
You're living - rotting in my dream
Morning lights to red
I think I've had too much already
So violently to touch, it's tearing me up
So beautifully to clutch, I'm feeling so weak
So violently to touch, you're everything
So violently to touch
Because you're always slipping away
Because you're always slipping away from me
Always slipping away
Because you're always slipping away from me
Aimless misery
Things aren't always what they seem
Anger lay to rest
I've never been the one to follow
So violently to touch, it's tearing me down
So beautifully to clutch is what you believe
So violently to touch, I'm anything
So violently to touch
Because you're always slipping away
Because you're always slipping away from me
Always slipping away
Because you're always slipping away from me
Not a memory
Your cup of life is overflowing
There to catch the fall
Bending down to kiss the sorrow
So silently to touch, it's tearing me down
Innocently to clutch, I'm feeling so weak
So violently to touch, I'm anything
So violently to touch
Because you're always slipping away
Because you're always slipping away from me
Always slipping away
Because you're always slipping away from me