Beautiful Things

Grayscale

Like nothing I've seen
The shade of your eyes, they're so Kelly Green
I'm begging you please
If you go, you'll miss all the beautiful things

Need to feel all the bold mist
I need sprits of the ocean air
Standing by towering sea cliffs
Thinking 'bout if I was to slip in

Would I feel anything?

Like nothing I've seen
The shade of your eyes, they're so Kelly Green
I'm begging you please
If you go, you'll miss all the beautiful things
If only I could change the world you view
I would be your rescue
And all along, the devil's dealing cards to you
Cast you out into the ocean blue

No time for apologies, this world took a toll on me
Left with guilt I can't handle
Somehow stayed happy when I never could be Watched as my world crumbled

Feel my mind go
Just want to be alone

Like nothing I've seen
The shade of your eyes, they're so Kelly Green
I'm begging you please
If you go, you'll miss all the beautiful things
If only I could change the world you view
I would be your rescue
And all along, the devil's dealing cards to you
Cast you out into the ocean blue

I'll sleep soundly now, soundly now
I'll sleep soundly now, soundly now

If only I could change the world you view
And all along, the devil's dealt cards to you
Cast you out into ocean blue

Made you watch as I rolled down the hills at Clayton
Flowers in full bloom
Smiling back at me just like the way you used to
