

Change

Grayscale

I see it in your cloudy eyes
You're desperate and hopeless tonight
Before it all comes crashing in
I'll still be near the end
Too late, it's too late, you've been replaced
I'm numb to your sadness and teary face
Back in a house where I sleep on the couch
The damage you caused leaves nothing to talk about

Give it up, you're stuck with your words and false hope
You bring me down but I need you
Let it go, you'll never know what you have done
I swear I mean it when I say you're gone

It's been 6 months now, it's hard not to think about
My broken hands, and how you left them
It's unsettling, we could've been something
And I miss the feeling it brings

Give it up, you're stuck with your words and false hope
You bring me down but I need you
Let it go, you'll never know what you have done
I swear I mean it when I say you're gone
Believe me when I say you're gone

It's why I hate change
Just take me home
It's why I hate change
Just take me home

Give it up, you're stuck with your words and false hope
You bring me down but I need you
Let it go, you'll never know what you have done
I swear I mean it when I say you're gone
I swear I mean it when I say you're gone
I swear I mean it when I say you're gone
I swear I mean it when I say you're gone