Great Good Fine OK

How many times can you hear me say that I miss you?
How many nights can I lie awake, it's an issue

I wish that we could align, go back, hit the rewind
In my mind, I'm coming back to you

Every time it rains I know it's been too long
It's hard to be away, it's hard to sleep alone
I know it's been forever every time I hear that song
The further I go, the more you feel like home
The more you feel like home
The more you feel like home
The more you feel like home

Just you and I in the candlelight, in the bedroom
I couldn't see that I had it all when I left you

I wish that we could align, go back, hit the rewind
In my mind, I'm coming back to you

Every time it rains I know it's been too long
It's hard to be away, it's hard to sleep alone
I know it's been forever every time I hear that song
The further I go, the more you feel like home
The more you feel like home
The more you feel like home
The more you feel like home

I'm getting closer every time I close my eyes
I can see you won't look broken in the stars up in the sky
And every tear that passes, baby, I am sure
I can't take it any, I can't take it anymore

Every time it rains I know it's been too long
(I know it's been too long)
It's hard to be away (It's hard to be), it's hard to sleep alone
I know it's been forever every time I hear that song
The further I go (The further I go), the more you feel like home
(The more you feel like, oh, the more you feel like home)
The more you feel like home
(The more you feel like, oh)
The more you feel like home
(You gotta know that, just gotta know that)
The more you feel like home
