Imaginary Bars

Great Lake Swimmers

When the sun fell down and fell asleep Drunk from drinking all the heat It made a splash onto the sky The stars stayed up 'til morning

When the sun fell down and fell asleep Drunk from drinking all the heat It made a splash onto the sky The stars stayed up 'til morning

I was in a prison with imaginary bars
I was riding shotgun in imaginary cars
One was filled with wind twisting through an iron mouth
One was made of trees with no keys to shimmy out

When the sun fell down and fell asleep Drunk from drinking all the heat It made a splash onto the sky The stars stayed up 'til morning

00000h...

When the sun fell down and fell asleep Drunk from drinking all the heat It made a splash onto the sky The stars stayed up 'til morning