

One More Charge At The Red Cape

Great Lake Swimmers

Feeling word, the parting smile
Saying it will all be worthwhile
Saying it steady, with shaking hands
And that we know the end is coming
And click click through the windows and doors
I love you through the ceiling
I love you through the floors
It's a minute just a minute
Hey I love you
Hey I love you

You're sitting still and I'm still screaming
You can turn it off but don't stop dreaming
As the horns drop down for one more charge at the red cape
A hand made sign on the battle ground
It's all lit up and it's burning down
While we're caught in the screen door
Caught in one minute and gone in another

If you're sitting still and I'm still screaming
You can turn it off but don't stop dreaming
If you're sitting still and I'm still screaming
You can shut it down but don't stop dreaming
If you're sitting still and I'm still screaming
You can turn it off but don't stop dreaming
