

Wide Awake

Greeley Estates

Fear has a way of consuming us
It holds us back from all our dreams
I've hid in its shadow for too long
I don't want to live this way
I don't want to be held as a prisoner
Afraid of what life brings my way
Oh God, I need you more than ever
Show me who I am in you

As soon as I realized it's all in my head
It's all making sense now

I'm letting go
I'm peeling back all the dying layers
I'm finally open
I'm letting go
And now that I'm open to face tomorrow
I'm finally open to change

I see a world that's broken
I see a world in need of you
Oh God, help my eyes to open
I don't want to live this way
I don't want to be held as a prisoner
Afraid of what life brings my way
I've hid in the shadows for too long
Show me who I am in you

As soon as I realized it's all in my head
It's all making sense now

I'm letting go
I'm peeling back all the dying layers
I'm finally open
I'm letting go
And now that I'm open to face tomorrow
I'm finally open to change

I will not be held as a prisoner
Afraid of what life brings my way
I will not entertain any of the lies in the first place
I've been set free

The one and the only thing that holds us back is fear

I'm letting go
I'm peeling back all the dying layers
I'm finally open
I'm letting go
And now that I'm open to face tomorrow
I'm finally open to change

After all these years I've learned to let go
I see the world through a new lens
It's clear to me now
I find my solace in the things I can't change
I'm wide awake, I'm wide awake

After all these years I've learned to let go
I see the world through a new lens
It's clear to me now
I find my solace in the things I can't change
I'm wide awake, I'm wide awake
