

Before the Lobotomy

Green Day

Dreaming

I was only dreaming
Of another place in time
Where my family's from.

Singing

I can hear them singing.
When the rain had washed away
All these scattered dreams

Dying

Everyone's reminded
Hearts are washed in misery
Drenched in gasoline

Laughter

There is no more laughter
Songs of yesterday
Now live in the underground

Life before the lobotomy

Christian sang the eulogy
Sign my love a lost memory
From the end of the century

Well, it's enough to make you sick
To cast a stone and throw a brick
When the sky is falling down
It burned your dreams into the ground

Christian's lesson's what he's been sold
We are normal and self-controlled
Remember to learn to forget
Whiskey shots and cheap cigarettes

Well I'm not stoned

I'm just fucked up
I got so high I can't stand up
I'm not cursed 'cause I've been blessed
I'm not in love 'cause I'm a mess

Like refugees

We're lost like refugees
Like refugees
We're lost like refugees
The brutality of reality
Is the freedom that keeps me from

Dreaming

I was only dreaming
Of another place in time
Where my family's from.

Singing

I can hear them singing.

Dying

Drenched in gasoline

Laughter
There is no more laughter
Songs of yesterday
