

Ashes

Greensky Bluegrass

There's no safe way to cross the room
And no one's prayers are answered too soon
But I can remember when you first fell for me
Near the bottom I was mostly empty

Ashes in the moonlight make the time stand still
If no one's love you this much, then I will
And when it's the morning's time to come
Let's not finish what we have begun

With no walls to hold you in
My love makes the space to begin
But if we can maybe we should skip the start
And you can have the pieces of my heart

Ashes in the moonlight make the time stand still
If no one's loved you this much, then I will
And when it's the morning's time to come
Let's not finish what we have begun

I lay down to be your floor
Hold you up, hope to make you more
And if my love is strong enough to lift you up
Maybe I can think I am enough

Ashes in the moonlight make the time stand still
If no one's loved you this much, then I will
And when it's the morning's time to come
Let's not finish what we have begun
