

Nothing Changes

Greg Holden

I'm gonna dig up the pain, stop burying my feelings
Stand in the rain, and let it wash out
I'm gonna clean up the dirt that's crawled in my fingers
I know it's gonna hurt, I know it's gonna hurt

It's wasted time looking for redemption
'Cause I know how to break, but I don't have it down
And what is Heaven if I can't reach it?
It won't help me now, it won't help me now

I keep doing the work, but nothing changes
I keep doing the work, but nothing changes
I keep doing the work, but nothing changes easy
I keep doing the work, but nothing changes
I keep doing the work, but nothing changes
I keep doing the work, but nothing changes easy
Nothing changes easy

I'm gonna spill my blood and let the mark remind me
That everything I love will be left behind
There's nothing you can take I haven't already given
It didn't help me then, it won't help me now

I keep doing the work, but nothing changes
I keep doing the work, but nothing changes
I keep doing the work, but nothing changes easy
I keep doing the work, but nothing changes
I keep doing the work, but nothing changes
I keep doing the work, but nothing changes easy
Nothing changes easy

Oh, I keep doing the work, but nothing changes
I keep doing the work, but nothing changes
I keep doing the work, but nothing changes easy
I keep doing the work, but nothing changes
I keep doing the work, but nothing changes
I keep doing the work, but nothing changes easy
I keep doing the work, but nothing changes
I keep doing the work, but nothing changes
I keep doing the work, but nothing changes easy
