

Womankind

Greg Kihn Band

When you're a woman, you're always alone
You give up your freedom, you're chained to your home
When you're a woman, who do you believe?
No questions are answered, no message received

Womankind, womankind
They make 'em walk one step behind
Womankind, womankind
They got a right to change your mind

When you're a woman, you give up your name
You carry the children, you take all the blame
They can't live without you, they're not even born
Your love and affection is keeping 'em warm

Womankind, womankind
They make 'em walk one step behind
Womankind, womankind
They got a right to speak their minds

Oh, oh, womankind
Oh, oh, womankind

When you're a woman, try to be strong
But where does it come from when everything's gone?
It comes from inside you, you'll use it again
'Cause woman are people, the same as the men

They say womankind, womankind
They make 'em walk one step behind
Womankind, womankind
They got a right to change your mind
Womankind
Womankind
Womankind
Whoa, womankind
