

Illusions

Grendel

When they found you that night Curled on the floor With express ionless eyes On the last skip of awareness They knew that this time Some matters moved too far You were on the other side

Do you hear Somewhere deep inside Somebody is calling Is it you r name?

You feel like your soul Was torned so much And nobody couldn't save you Nobody couldn't help There was no one by your side.. Y ou can see it now Fragile ideals, destructive success And never spoken words I give you freedom Life is only a pain Illusion, far agony And deeply scare loneliness

Now I know it And I am ready Show me the way Whoever you are I see..

This is a place full of silence In this place I can't hear my h eart's beating But I can touch the heaven over my head This is a place filled with oblivion Without mysteries, without shame W here the day is never ending I feel something strange At the bo ttom of my soul When my spirit Took off from the ground I saw f ields of flowers I heard that quiet voice I heard your name But I can't hear your heart's beating... Strange women holding you r hand Looking in your face Open your eyes, show you're alive Y our screaming consumed by pain A fever devours you from inside You're burning like a torch at night Poison.. you have too much of it That's a gift of new life Poison.. you have to much of i t Don't you understand that?

You're walking on the street Your confidence lost you You are f ollowing marked by emptiness Between death chances Position, su ccess Nonsense which you've called happiness You well know a st arvation Worrying district of helplessness

Where do you go? Trying to save control Where do you go? Disapp earing in the rain...
