

Satellite In Love

Greyhaven

Pull me out a broken window
Drag me out into the sea
I see everything that you don't
Deconstructed fantasy

Aim within, shut it out
Underpinned by shame and doubt
Who will save me now?

I wash away into the void
The sounds we make are filtered out
A casket built for the world
So what have I become?
I don't believe I have an answer
Staring at a black hole
Spreading out just like a cancer
Woke up weightless, waiting to dissolve

You walk around the center, you wanted to unfold
Your words so fatalistic, your body opened up
Staring at the memory of our kinetic souls
I saw you in the distance, a satellite in love
Who will save me now?

I wash away into the void
The sounds we make are filtered out
A casket built for the world
When will it be enough?
I don't believe we have the answer
Swallowed by the black hole
Cursive light, a jaded lantern
Take me to the rapture, I'm waiting to dissolve

You walk around the center, you wanted to unfold
Your words so fatalistic, your body opened up
Staring at the memory of our kinetic souls
I saw you in the distance, a satellite in love

A wormhole through the heart
I would drag you through the moat I designed
An anchor from the start
Bring me out the world, drag me into the light

Who will save me now?
Who will save me
From myself?

Another star implodes
Stayed too long, I never made it home
I don't know which way to go
Who will save me now?

Oh, I watch the sky explode
Strayed too far from everything I've known
Let it go, I never die alone
I am with you now, I am with you now