

Technicolor Blues

Greyhaven

I hang in dreams when I feel low
Staying inside
I don't have the right to come around
I'm never found

I stay here, and lately I don't mind
The taste of fear that borders on divine
I disappear and burn another life
I keep you in my sleep

With painted teeth I never show
I keep my hands tied, drunken eyes wide
Dramamine is my new home
Nothing lands right, like a landslide
I'm coming down

It keeps me here, and lately I don't mind
The taste of fear that's always on my mind
It consumes
If I stay here, I'm leaving

Yeah, I take apart and take a look at my heart
I never wanted to be found
It takes a lot to take a look at me now
Look at me now

I take apart and take a look at my heart
I never wanted to be found
It takes a lot to take a look at me now
When no one's around
No one's around

I wanna go right now, I'm waiting on you
I hope that you're right there when I come to
I'm stuck in blackout
That keeps me here, and lately I don't mind
If you stay here with me

Yeah, I take apart and take a look at my heart
I never want it to be found
It takes a lot to take a look at me now
Look at me now

I take apart and take a look at my heart
I never want it to be found
It takes a lot to take a look at me now
Look at me now
