

Athena

Greyson Chance

I'm not fuckin' around anymore
Got my pedal pushed down to the floor, my, my
Say that you know me, babe
But no one really knows me, baby
Thought I was better with some self-dedication
That's what I get for making cold proclamations
I go ahead and kiss the ground
My head's getting heavy on this side of town

But you got it
And I want it more
Than you could ever know
Smoke my way to heaven on the bathroom floor

Singing where is Athena?
God damn it! I need her
To save me from all of this nothingness out on my own
I'm too dangerous alone
I need a holy vibration, that wanting
To show me that one day I might be worth something, I hope
No, I'm done with being proud
I need some love now

I don't wanna be the man I was
I wanna jump into the innocence of your touch
Fall into your ocean hands
Pick me like a cherry blossom in Japan

And we could fly away till we don't recognize the people
And you can tell your friends back home, but boy they won't believe you, no
'Cause I want you more than that
Praying to her temple, I won't fall off track

I'm singing where is Athena?
God damn it! I need her
To save me from all of this nothingness out on my own
I'm too dangerous alone
I need a holy vibration, that wanting
To show me that one day I might be worth something, I hope
No, I'm done with being proud
I need some love now

I need some love now
Mmm, yeah

'Cause you got it
And I want it more
Than you could ever know
Meet you up in heaven on my bedroom floor

I'm singing where is Athena?
God damn it! I need her
To save me from all of this nothingness out on my own
I'm too dangerous alone (Too dangerous alone)
I need a holy vibration, that wanting
To show me that one day I might be worth something, I hope
No, I'm done with being proud (I'm done being proud)

I need some love now
