

Iron

Groundation

The pain of life can cut you down to your core
Sometimes it don't stop, no, it brings on more
Temperature rise up to 100 degrees
Sending the faithless down to their knees to pray
Lord, it's too heavy! Too heavy for them! Some of them...

You see the mighty is getting weary so wouldn't you agree
I think it's time for some more love and mercy
How long can the wicked rule over I and I
Even the very fortunate are bound to slip and slide
Somehow, we've all got to survive! Some way, you see...

Everybody have a likkle iron to behold
Under pressure you know it can mold
For all the hills and valleys that we must navigate
Brings the wisdom of life
(Jah put the iron within)
A spiritual strength and vision!

No matter the rocky road
Jah still will be my savior
Deep inside, don't act surprised
When suddenly good materialize
But at the time, it seems to you it'd be forever
But it won't be forever, no

Jah judgment
We're seeking
More power
Strength forever
So in all your bending
(It build you up)
Is not your breaking
(It make you tuff)
By your works you'll be rewarded Jah!

In this time so dread!
There's no rock to weather the storm
No, no, no, no

So deep inna di darkest trials of your life
So you may stumble before you climb
But Jah na give more than you can bear
So when the time get hard just say
"I'm gonna mold a likkle iron today!"

Mold, mold, mold, mold, mold, mold!
Iron to flame and iron to water
Bring us all your licks, man
You know it doesn't matter

So be a lionhearted man, in Zion discipline
As Iron beats in the center of man and Earth
Just as sure as you find yourself
(You will see) it come again
