

Update

grouptherapy.

There you go

I haven't really changed too much
New hairdo, tattoos
New pair of shoes
Money cushion lookin' like a new parachute
I could spare a few
Just replaced my luggage, luggin' all that was buggin' me
Lost touch with my cousins, found out what the fuck I need

Listen to the visions in your mind
Intuition isn't fun and games
If I'm different, it means I did something right
Cause I can only feel the change

I needed an update
I needed a space to crash, needed to take it back
I needed an upgrade
I needed to take a lap, needed to face the past
Did it enough ways I learned
How to give up, wait my turn
No matter what page I turn
It's never enough, it's never enough

I haven't really changed too much
I drank too much
Complained too much, don't sang too much
Don't rang too much where I reside
I hit my brakes too much
Save face too much, headache too much
Cause I don't change my pace too much
I pray, I play, insane too much
My brain, I make a save
I stay homebase, I'm safe too much
Don't say too much, I play too much
I think about making escape too much
I condescend, ego, and flake too much
"That's great" too much
"Let's hang" too much
Started staying up late, Bruce Wayne too much
Unable, I must [?] too much
I can't when my shit bang too much

Listen to the visions in your mind
Intuition isn't fun and games
If I'm different, it means I did something right
Cause I can only feel the change
