

Take That Call

Gruff Rhys

I didn't notice it
I didn't know to be
I didn't notice the time
It was eventually

Take a minute, take a moment, take a yard
Take your pulse, test the limit of your heart
Take a second to adjust, turn to face the world we trust
Agitate, educate, sympathize
Take that call

Glowing with images burnt on your face
As you motion to the screen
A long conversation from different locations
Unite us in a dream

Take a minute, take a moment, take your time
Take your mete, turn it over, hold the line
So the systems codified in transactions through the sky
Have a state of decay, harmonize
Take that call

Take a minute, take a moment, take a yard
Take your pulse, test the limit of your heart
Take a second to adjust, turn to face the world we trust
Caffeinate, calculate, summer rise
Take that call

See you in face from tomorrow, my place
For a meaningful exchange
The natural embrace is replaced
By the space of a virtual arrangement
Take somethings spherical
Make it mechanical
Too many comical, take it in
Take that call
