

So Long

Gruntruck

So long, see you in the fall
So long, listen for the call
The song slipping through the marsh
The long wind whispers from the dark

These are the trees in skeleton garden
You know the power, well, it gets in the mind
Can't see the sky, I can't see their eyes
You know it hurts, even for a while
I push the TV 'cause it blocked out the sky
These are the things in skeleton garden

Ooooh yeah
So long, well, see you in the fall
So long, well, listen for the call
A song slipping through the marsh
While a long wind whispers in the dark
These are the trees in skeleton gardens, ooh

Broke off, and give me some direction
Look out, it's more like infection
These are the trees in skeleton garden
Yeah, these things are bound to the skeleton garden
Every thing's gonna be on my chemical garden
