You and I
On the 405
Driving
In the night
We're closer to the blue horizon

Did I die?
Cause you're heaven-like
I'm in
All the light
Your heart can radiate

And when I close my eyes
I see your purple skies
Between your lips and mine
We slow down time

You make me see who I am
When I discover
Your colours
And we could be free again
We see each other
In colours, colours
I see your colours
I see your colours
I see your colours

Cellophane sunsets
Summer rain, blood red
Colour me
You make me feel your inspiration

I've never let someone
See the best for so long
But now I'm home in your arms

You make me see who I am
When I discover
Your colours
And we could be free again
We see each other
In colours, colours
I see your colours
I see your colours

And we could be free again
We see each other
In colours, colours
I see your colours
I see your colours

You make me see who I am
When I discover
Your colours
And we could be free again
We see each other

In colours, colours
I see your colours
I see your colours
