

Always Gone

Guided by Voices

You can pick a fight and make it right
It's really all up to you how
When to find a seam and split this dream
And you know how to slip through it

Always gone

How then can you stay another day?
Not knowing if you can come back
To the next mistake that you'll escape
Without emotional contact

Always gone

From your material world disguise
No one's following you
Or the way that you run
Run

You say you don't play human games
Anymore, it's no wonder why
It's no surprise that you can't go
But you can't stay away