At the Farms

Guided by Voices

Well the simpleton at arms Is protecting the village's prettiest girls But now they're running far away Because the washing isn't done And they lived a life of grounding In a closet at the foundation And now they aren't available To the simpleton at arms And returning thus to the simple life (At the farms)