

Waking Up The Stars

Guided by Voices

As I'm waking up the stars I'm wondering
How they might be gleaming, standing on my toes
Rocking on my heels, reaching for the light beans

Oh, my soul goes climbing into
Places I could never go, impossible to know
As I'm wondering once more

Children wake, children wake

As I'm reaching for my dreams I'm wondering
How it might be feeling floating towards the ceiling
No gravity too steal, flying over fields

And oh my soul goes around and down, too
Things I'd never see reveal themselves to me
As I'm wondering once more

Children wake, children wake

As I'm waking up the stars I'm wondering
How they might be speeding across the ceiling
As I'm wondering once more
