

Walking With Our Eyes Closed

Gungor

We started burning bridges
Long before we knew we'd want to go back Braving a whole new world we Felt that something good was on the horizon

Oh the demons called out
The angels sang loud
The light drew us into herself

We went walking with our eyes closed
Walking with our eyes closed so tight
Then we caught sight of all the fire burning right before our e yes
The earth it opened up as
She kissed my lips with coal and kissed it with water
The face it knew me
Shone brighter than the sun
She was our mother

Oh the demons called out
The angels sang loud
The light drew us into herself

We went walking with our eyes closed
Walking with our eyes closed so tight
Then we caught sight of all the fire burning right before our e yes