

Oh, it may take time
I don't know when but I know how
We'll waste the daylight
And drive that dusk into the ground

All we ever had on paper was a wild imagination
All we ever had to wager was my wild human nature

I know, you know
It takes fire to find the weakness
I know, you know
Old horizons fall to pieces

A burning gravesite
I don't know them but I know how
I could erase mine
Turn my condition upside down

All we ever had on paper was a wild imagination
All we ever had to wager was my wild human nature

I know, you know
It takes fire to find the weakness
I know, you know
Old horizons fall to pieces

You gave me more than the world
And I gave up on my word
A lifetime lost in a day
When you dug up all the dirt
I never meant it to hurt
The former caused us to fray

I know, you know
It takes fire to find the weakness
I know, you know
Old horizons fall to pieces (To pieces, yeah)

I know, you know (Ooh)
It takes fire to find the weakness (The weakness, yeah)
I know, you know
Old horizons fall to pieces