

Sockboy

Gus Dapperton

Repose my ghost believer
We hold a broke demeanor
I'm always cold and so I don't Remotely hope to ease her
Repose my ghost believer
We won't assault and siege you
She's always alone and so I won't
Provoke and poke to please her

You bet that Burberry lingers
Where's your wallet, you got change to call it
Your imaginary love lives
Frame to wall and can't refrain from falling
You bet that Burberry lingers
Where's your wallet, you got change to call it
Your imaginary love lives
Frame to wall and can't refrain from falling

Repose my fair pretender
We would not dare offend you
I'm always scared and so I wear
A mug that tugs to tend her
Repose my fair pretender
We hold like rare defenders
I'm never there and so I swear
A life with strife to adventure

You bet that Burberry lingers
Where's your wallet, you got change to call it
Your imaginary love lives
Frame to wall and can't refrain from falling
You bet that Burberry lingers
Where's your wallet, you got change to call it
Your imaginary love lives
Frame to wall and can't refrain from falling

From falling
From falling
From falling
From falling

Repose my ghost believer
We hold a broke demeanor
I'm always cold and so I won't
Remotely hope to ease her again
I've tried before the silence
Remains a power I repent
I'm not your hero but I'm here