

The Stranger

Gus Dapperton

You roll your eyes
To see if there's a place for me inside
I'm cold as ice
But the heat would melt me down this time

And now I'll fit right in
An hourglass in the shape of my outfit
We'll outlast the trials and tribulations
Let the time rush in, let the time rush in

You freeze when danger knocks at your door
The pent-up pain is keepin' it closed
Let the stranger out of the mold
Let the stranger out of the mold
You freeze when danger knocks at your door
The pent-up pain is keepin' it closed
Let the stranger out of the mold
Let the stranger out of the mold

I fantasize
To see if there's a space for me in mind
I held on tight
To memories that made my alibi

But now I take the blame
An era full of misery and shame
From here on out, I will not fit that frame
Let the time reclaim, let the time reclaim

You freeze when danger knocks at your door
The pent-up pain is keepin' it closed
Let the stranger out of the mold
Let the stranger out of the mold
You freeze when danger knocks at your door
The pent-up pain is keepin' it closed
Let the stranger out of the mold
Let the stranger out of the mold (Out of the mold)
You freeze when danger knocks at your door
The pent-up pain is keepin' it closed
Let the stranger out of the mold
Let the stranger out of the mold (Out the mold)
You freeze when danger knocks at your door
The pent-up pain is keepin' it closed
Let the stranger out of the mold
Let the stranger out of the mold
