

Cupid

Guy Sebastian

Oh she made me feel
Like all my lonely days were gone
Like it was worth the wait
My faith in fate was finally paying off
She set aside my fears, my pride
The moment that she met my eyes
She said that night would change my life
At least she wasn't wrong

I didn't know
That she started slipping through my fingers
I was busy loving her with blinkers on
Shoulda known this day would come
When all that I knew would be broken

I put my trust in Cupid
I said I'm done with losing
And yet he shot an arrow
Straight into a black hole
I done fell head over feet
And gave her all of me
If this is how he knew it would end
I'm never gonna trust Cupid again

How does he sleep at night and call himself the god of love
When in a trigger-happy oversight he got it all so wrong
Now I'm the one who pays the price
And he is long gone out of sight
His empty quiver won't deliver love for me this time

I put my trust in Cupid
And, just my luck, he chooses
To go and shoot an arrow
Straight into a black hole
I done fell head over feet
And gave her all of me
If this is how he knew it would end
I'm never gonna trust Cupid again

What have you done
Yeah, this ain't the dream you went and sold me
Had me here believing I'm the only one
Shoulda known this day would come
Of everyone he could have chosen

I put my trust in Cupid
I guess I must be stupid
He went and shot an arrow
Straight into a black hole

I done fell head over feet
And gave her all of me
If this is how he knew it would end
I'm never gonna trust Cupid again
No, I'm never gonna trust Cupid again
I'm never gonna trust Cupid again
