

I can hear it on the line
While you profess that everything is fine, but There's that static in your voice
And all I want to do is read between the noise
I hear you, but I can't hear you
I feel like something's wrong again
And now I'm losing my friend
Have we been disconnected again?
I'm feeling disconnected
Have we been disconnected again?
I'm feeling disconnected
I'm trying to believe in what you say
I hear a click, and it's giving you away, and I want to be there when you're down
Leave a message that I'm not around, cause
I know you, but I don't know you
You can not tell me what's inside
Why can't you swallow your pride?
Have we been disconnected again?
I'm feeling disconnected
Have we been disconnected again?
I'm feeling disconnected
I wanna know what it's about
Can't understand when you're cutting out, but You're pretending that it's clear
Use the static when I'm driving near, so
I hear you, but I can't hear you
I feel like something's wrong again
And now I'm losing my friend
Have we been disconnected again?
I'm feeling disconnected
Have we been disconnected again?
I'm feeling disconnected
I hear you, but I can't hear you
I feel like something's wrong again
And now I'm losing my friend