

Cold Shoulders

Hacktivist

There's a shining at the skyline and its twisting manifesting into something big you can try to hide but it won't do a thing next level more than anything seen we take over your days over two blades on my cold shoulders contagious like a Trojan you're frozen ice age these days are far from golden

Volcanoes erupt from beneath as we stand here gritting our teeth a thousand years go by in a week as we lose the world to this piece by piece as thunder rips through the seams like a lightning strike you can never break free can't leave like a government scheme your sucked in locked in without no key

They ain't got no patience bodies get left with bare lacerations you don't wanna see their retaliation no explanation they start an invasion They've been incarcerated sedated their pupils dilated most hated for making you open your mind to what we've designed

As nations divide
you can't test whats happening its more real than its ever been I'm looking from the other side

Times are hard as nations divide gotta choose a path hold on hurricanes and shooting stars hope mother earth takes me with open arms I'm looking from the other side I'm nothing but an outcast hear the sounds from the blast catastrophic turn the amp up a couple notches put your hands up if you got this

As nations divide
you can't test whats happening
its more real than its ever been
I'm looking from the other side
this poison's destiny
the one thing that was meant to be

Theres a shining at the skyline and its twisting
manifesting into something big
you can try to hide but it won't do a thing
next level more than anything seen
we take over your days over
two blades on my cold shoulders

contagious like a Trojan you're frozen ice age
these days are far from golden

As nations divide
you can't test whats happening
its more real than its ever been
I'm looking from the other side
this poison's destiny
the one thing that was meant to be

Walk this line

So far from a day dream how can i choose when i can't see you will never out last me I'm on top of this don't put it past me lets wake to reality