

I Can Tell By The Scars

Hail the Sun

Oh, oh
Not sure I'll ever know the
Oh, oh
Not sure I'll ever know the

Reason, but I know the vision of our inner anthem
And in the same connotation
How can I relate with such an intervention?
Forever seeking frenzied feedings
I carved initials everywhere around you

Under a sad Texas sky, I wait for it
And as the sun starts to rise, I fight the urge to stall
Even if it isn't time, I'll never change my mind
I'll just race into it all
Yeah, I'll race the sun to fall
Not sure they'll ever get it

Oh, oh
Not sure they'll ever get it
Oh, oh
Not sure they'll ever get it

The velvet, I'll forever miss it
I forget where I came from every time I visit
I carved my initials inside the venue
I fed the racehorse even when it turned blue

Can you tell by the scars that we've been here before?
Can you tell by the scars that we've been here before?
Can they tell by the scars? Can they tell?

Under a sad Texas sky, I wait for it
And as the sun starts to rise, I fight the urge to stall
Even if it isn't time, I'll never change my mind
I'll just race into it all
Yeah, I'll race the sun to fall

Not sure they'll ever get it
I'll race the sun
Not sure they'll ever get it

Can you tell by the scars that we've been here before?
Can you tell by the scars that we've been here before?
Can they tell by the scars? Can they tell?

Even the soul falls apart if you wait for it
I always find where to start and fight the urge to stall
Even with Texas behind, I'll never change my mind
I'll just race into it all, I'll race the sun to fall
Race into it all, race the sun to fall
Just race into it all, I'll race the sun to fall
Race into it all