

One More Hell

Hailey Whitters

Talking to your grave makes me unafraid to die
Then I take a breath and I'm glad to be alive
I've heard that with time, the pain will go away
My tears will all dry up and I'll smile when I hear your name

Mama's not right, Daddy's still mad, he wants to kick God's ass
'Cause he says that it ain't right He took you so fast
As for the rest of us, we're doing the best we can
There's only so much you can figure out and we're trying to understand

And if heaven's like they say it is, save me a seat
I can't wait to hear your laugh and have you next to me
If I had a superpower, I know what I would do
I'd forget about the hell to pay and raise one more hell with you

For ever since we were kids, we've been up to no good
We got a reputation for not doing the things we should Like the time we took our trucks and tore up the neighbor's farm
We were always causing trouble, never meant to cause no harm

And if heaven's like they say it is, save me a seat
I can't wait to hear your laugh and have you next to me
If I had a superpower, I know what I would do
I'd forget about the hell to pay and raise one more hell with you

Well I talk about you a little, but I think about you a lot
I'd kill for another memory, but I'm thankful for the ones I've got

And if heaven's like they say it is, save me a seat
I can't wait to hear your laugh and have you next to me
If I had a superpower, I know what I would do
I'd forget about the hell to pay and raise one more hell with you
I'd forget about the hell to pay and raise one more hell with you
